RECOMMENDATION FOR MMCC MEMBERS

by June Steffensen Hagen

ICP’s current shows are worth a few hours—but they close May 9, 2010, so you’ll have to scurry over there (43rd and 6th Ave.) as Jim and I did a few days ago. We were puzzled at first by the work of Miroslav Tichy, but after about ½ of the video which included many comments by citizens of his own town in Czechoslovakia which provided a fuller sense of the man, we began to see a strange beauty, even a touching humanity in the work of this very strange man. If you do nothing else, spend time with the two display cases of his mainly homemade, sometimes cobbled-together equipment. B&H it is not; but photographic equipment it is! And what a model of recycling!

Downstairs, the two shows on Paris, which include a number of classic images, and the one of Alan Stone’s “Senses of Place” also intrigue.
